Foreword

Into a world of national strife and conflict this class of nineteen hundred fifty-one will pass. Our minds are filled with the wars and rumors of wars. Nations are rising against nations. It is a time of sorrow throughout the land. Science has attained powers to create or destroy a world of peace.
It is with this in mind that we turn to the lighter side of life.
Journeying back into the happy carefree days of childhood, brushing aside world cares for at least a moment, we venture into realms of fantasy. It is here that we choose the ultimate theme of this yearbook. Weaving together the contents with quotations from that well loved story,
"Alice In Wonderland", we hope to put forth an annual that will share forever
our happy adventures in the Wonderland of L. C. S. through which we have traveled for twelve

"And who are these?"

For their helpfulness, their high ideals, and their understanding ways, all used unselfishly for the betterment of our class and ourselves, we the graduating class of 1951, as we go out into the world of today, are greatly honored to dedicate this edition of the Re-Echo as a tribute to Mr. Thomas H. Grant, our English teacher and advisor, and to Mr. George L. Kelley, our guidance teacher and advisor, who have given unceasingly of their time and efforts in our behalf.

To the Class of 1951:

To each of you I offer my congratulations upon the completion of an important stage of your journey in life. You have completed your four years' course in high school and are about to be graduated. I congratulate you because you have survived, for this again proves the validity of the law of the survival of the fittest.

I sincerely hope you may do your own thinking about your futures. What you have accomplished, the habits you have formed, the attitudes you have acquired, and the characters you have developed will determine what your futures will be.

It is impossible for me to tell you what you will be, but I can express my sincerest hopes for you. To find yourself comes harder as the years advance, therefore it is my wish that you may find yourselves very soon. May you remember that the best things cost most and cheap things for the most part, are worthless.

Have courage, keep growing, keep learning. Progress must sometimes be slow; only stopping should discourage you. Move on, even though your pace slackens and the climbing is hard!

*"Heaven is not reached at a single bound;
We build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies;
And we mount to its summit round by round."*

Most sincerely,

Luella P. Hoyer

"I move that the meeting adjourn, for the immediate adoption of more energetic remedies"

President - - - HOWARD E. BROWN
Clerk - - - LUCIAN A. WEBBER

"Energetic remedies" indeed were adopted during the 1950-51 season by the Board of Education!

The outstanding project, the building of the new elementary school, has taken much work over a period of time on the part of the board. First, the building program had to be passed by the voters of the district. Seemingly, much worry and hard work would stop there, but the next item was to get shipments of materials needed in the construction. Against all these odds, the board emerged victorious!

The board's regular work has been put in charge of five committees. First, there was the Transportation Committee which arranged bus schedules, and handled all matter falling into this category. The Teachers' Committee handled affairs concerning the teachers and the board. The committee which supervised athletics, purchased equipment and made improvements on the athletic field was, of course, the Athletic Committee. Likewise, the Repairs Committee had complete charge of repair and maintenance of all school buildings. The group in charge of receiving bids on major equipment was the Purchasing and Financing Committee. These five committees worked together to make a smoothly running school and a harmoniously functioning board. Lewis Rowley, one of the members of the board, is the president of the Niagara-Orleans School Board Association.

Our happy journey through our school "Wonderland" has been made possible by the Board of Education, to which we give our thanks.

It is with deep regret that we mourn the passing of Mr. Leonard Oakes, who as an esteemed member of our board, contributed greatly to the furthering of better education in the Lyndonville system.

"Yet what can one poor voice avail, against three tongues together?"

Supervising Principal -	MR. WEBBER
Vice Principal -	MR. HERRY
Supervising Grade Principal -	MR. WARNER

The efforts of our venerable principal and his assistants (grown to two since September 1950) have made our journey through our school "wonderland" a very happy and successful one.

Persevering industry and many good examples set by them have shown us how to think, work, and carry on activities which will help us to help ourselves and our fellow men as we come to the end of our journey. These men have been not only willing to advise and help us, but they have shown friendliness to each and every one. They have been most generous in allowing us to operate on democratic principles, too. But, like our Supreme Court, their "three tongues" overruled some of our well-meant but over-enthusiastic projects!

With the addition this past year, of Mr. Warner to the administrative staff, another step has been taken toward making Lyndonville Central a bigger, better and more efficient school. Construction on a new grade school has actually begun. Mr. Webber, Mr. Herry, and now Mr. Warner, too, are finally seeing their "dream" come true. This new grade school, when completed, will relieve congestion in the main building, and eliminate the placing of any grades outside the main buildings. Mr. Warner will be in charge of the kindergarten and first six grades in the new building, and Mr. Webber and Mr. Herry will continue in their present capacities.

We, the 1951 graduating class, are deeply grateful to these men for all the time and energy spent in preparing us to be better citizens of our country and of the world.

—P. Rowley

"Childlife and happy . . . days"

President	-	-	-	-	WILLIAM HARROLD
Vice-President	-	-	-	-	GORDON SCOTT
Secretary-Treasurer	-	-	-	-	JOANNE WHITNEY

Like Alice, we, the senior class of 1951, have emerged from "all these strange adventures" in our "wonderland" at Lyndonville Central School, ready and prepared to face reality.

When we started "down the rabbit-hole" as first graders, we undertook a wondrous pursuit of knowledge that was to continue for twelve years under the guidance of our teachers, whose unfailing efforts to help us along our way were occasionally punctuated with "off with their heads!" or some similar phrase. We shall never forget how enjoyable, profitable and complete our school work and activities were made by them.

Bit by bit, we made our way through the maze of "uglification and distraction", and other kindred subjects, taking on, gradually, added non-academic responsibilities, too. Always, like Alice, "we shall find a pleasure in the aftertime" in all the simple joys of school children, remembering our own "child-life and happy . . . days".

"Thus grew the tale of Wonderland:

Thus slowly, one by one,

Its quaint events were hammered out —

And now the tale is done,

And home we steer, a merry crew,

Beneath the setting sun."

"Tut! Tut! Child"

President	-	-	-	-	STANLEY CHURCH
Vice-President	-	-	-	-	CARL COSTICH
Secretary	-	-	-	-	JAMES ENDERBY
Treasurer	-	-	-	-	JAMES COSTICH

"How puzzling all these changes are," was heard from every member of the Freshman Class as we started the first lap of our journey through "Wonderland". We groped our way through the first semester to be sure, but as the year wore on we became assured and proud of the appellation "Freshman".

"To begin with" we elected our class officers and advisors to guide us through this stage of our journey. We elected Stanley Church and James Costich to be our Student Council representatives.

Our playtime (for were we not little children?) was taken up with the many organizations offered in this fairyland of wonders of which we were eager to become a part. In the music organizations, Mrs. Wolfe took many of us under her wing and told us that "We'd get used to it in time". Three of our boys wanted nothing more than to join the Junior Varsity Basketball team and to learn more about the game they liked so well. "Now I'll manage better this time," explained Elton Bentley, when he told Coach Kelley that he would like to be manager of this team. "I know I'm a little girl, but I want to be a J. V. cheerleader just the same," said Dorothy Jean Dack, and a . . . cheerleader she became!

To add to our fun in fairyland, we had a Hallowe'en Party with square dancing, games, refreshments and everything.

"We almost wish we hadn't gone down that rabbit hole and yet . . . and yet it's rather curious you know, this sort of life," and fun too! ! !

"What made you so clever?"

President	- - - -	BARBARA MAYNARD
Vice-President	- - - -	VICTOR LARSON
Secretary-Treasurer	- - - -	JOYCE RIEMER
Advisor	- - - -	MR. HERRY

We thought we were well prepared to answer this question as we entered the sacred sanctuary of the eighth grade, presided over by Mr. Herry.

Just how well prepared we were we soon found out, after our first meetings with our teachers. It looked like another hard, long struggle until we reminded ourselves that we had faced similar scholastic battles and had managed to come out on top. Consequently, we rolled up our mental sleeves, determined to show the learned professors just what made us "so clever". That we were clever was a fact already well established within our own minds. All that needed to be done was to convince the skeptics (our teachers)!

First indications of our cleverness came when we elected Barbara Maynard and Jon Postle as representatives to the Student Council.

As the year progressed, we continued to impress everyone with our all-round cleverness. Since our mastery of the various subjects was already common knowledge among our awe-struck teachers, we turned next to sports.

In Intramural Sports, we swept the board. We showed proficiency in such undertakings as the Junior Band, Junior Chorus and gymnastic exhibitions. Every aspect of school life into which we threw ourselves, was improved and helped not only by our enthusiasm, but also by our mental alacrity.

As a reward for our achievements we were treated to a picnic at Shadigee in the spring.

And so if you are not convinced by now that we really are gifted, talented, resourceful, able, ingenious, and artistic, just wait until we get into the Freshman Class and show everyone a thing or two! . . . or even three!

—B. Maynard

"How are you getting on?"

President -	ALBERT AMES
Vice-President	NANCY BELSON
Secretary-Treasurer -	VERA FREEMAN
Advisors -	MISS WHITNEY, MR. PHILLIPS

It seemed as if we had taken a bite of mushroom and suddenly grown, when we realized that we were indeed "getting along" and had already become our school's Junior Class.

Three years had flown by so quickly that we were astonished to find ourselves acquiring our senior rings! When we took over as Juniors, we first elected our class officers and advisors. When, due to unfortunate circumstances, Vera had to leave us, Dean West capably took over the job of secretary, while treasurer Curtis Bentley did as well in his new office. As representatives to the Student Council, we elected Albert Ames and Richard Watson.

Members of our class glistened on the gridiron, bounced on the basketball court and demonstrated their athletic prowess on the baseball diamond. They were spurred in their efforts by five members (of the distaff side) on the cheering squad, who stamped and shouted for V-I-C-T-O-R-Y. Also, many of our voices rang clearly in the musical organizations.

We started earning money by selling candy at all sports' events. A chicken supper in January was a financial success, and after the supper no one went around calling "who stole the tarts", but rather "who stole my piece of pie?"

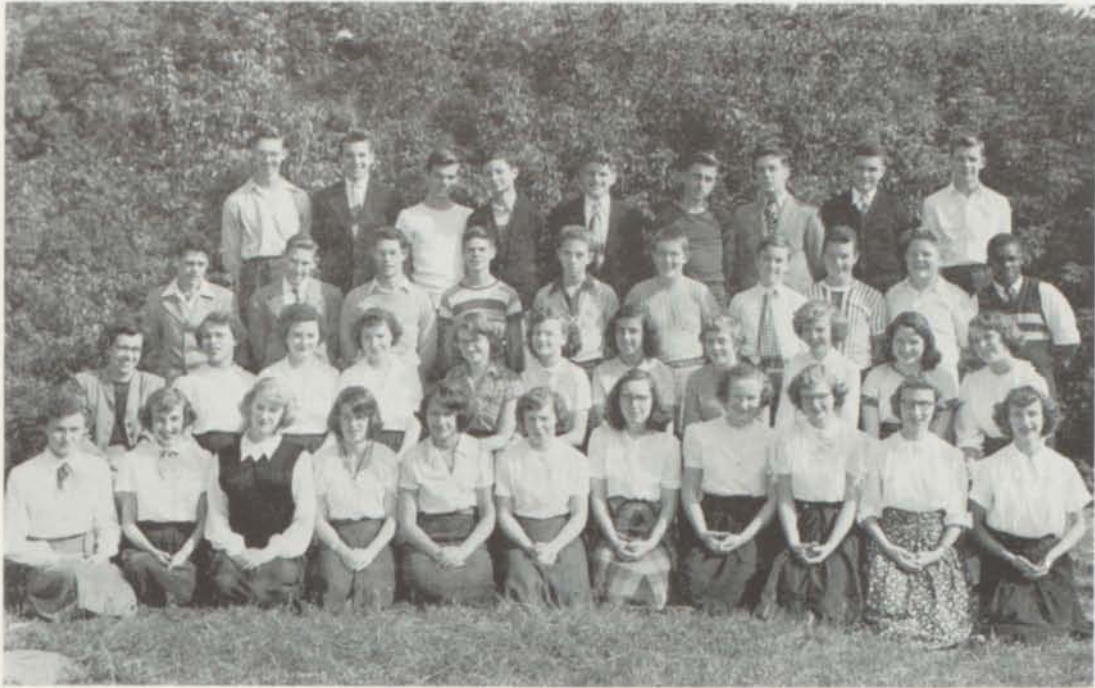

Then we looked ahead to our Junior Prom. Although we didn't dance the "Lobster Quadrille", everyone certainly had a gala time. We closed the school year with a Junior-Senior picnic. And, like the White Rabbit, we have hurried along to the most honored position in this "wonderland" — that of Senior Class!

"A Mad Tea Party!" The first Sophomore Class meeting of course! At this "bedlam" we elected our class officers and advisors, (or is the word reformers?) and heeded the oft-given warning, "don't give yourself airs" (advice frequently given to Sophomoric "procrastinators"! ) Speaking of advice, Norma Riemer and Jack Riordan were elected to serve on the Student Council. Lynnette Barnum, Judith Meland and Richard Kenyon, our future yearbook "bosses", were elected by the class to serve on the yearbook staff.

"We indeed" were very active in extracurricular activities, including sports, cheerleading, musical organizations and other clubs. Five girls of our class helped to cheer the J-V basketball team on to victory and many of our boys were members of the basketball squad, the football team, and the baseball team. We were very well represented in the musical organizations, too, as Howard Gates enjoyed the honor of being the sole member from our school chosen to sing in the All-State Musical Festival at Syracuse.

Flash! Bam! Alkazam — whew, what a party our Valentine Party was! Each one of us acted like the "Mad Hatter" in person! Whoo!! It was obligatory for the doormice (our advisors) to chaperone this and other "mad" doings. Remember who lost his "magna-size" twelve shoes in our shoe scramble?

Now forward we go, like Alice, into a wonderland of desires and new experiences, reaching ahead for the goal which will better enable us to undertake the responsibilities awaiting us when our fairyland journey is ended . . . A dream come true, "for are we not such stuff as dreams are made on?"

"You'd better not talk"

President	ROBERT GLANTZ
Vice-President	GORDON WOODS
Secretary-Treasurer	FRANCIS HAWKINS
Advisor	MR. PHILLIPS

Although September 5, 1950 found us a happy (?) family of forty-nine seventh graders getting settled in what was to be our living room for the next nine months, we found it a hard chore not to talk out of turn frequently. "You'd better not talk" was the repeated advice of our new guardian, Mr. Phillips.

Early in September we, or rather the teachers, decided that it was time for us to start doing our daily chores, and a reward was offered to those who completed them on time. At the end of each five week period we were given a generous allowance on our pay-checks (known more vulgarly as report cards).

It was decided at our first family gathering that from among our number we should choose representatives to see that our affairs were run smoothly and to see that everyone would get a chance to have his say. Accordingly, we elected the aforementioned officers and to present our grievances to the Student Council, we elected Linda Hass and Helen Foss.

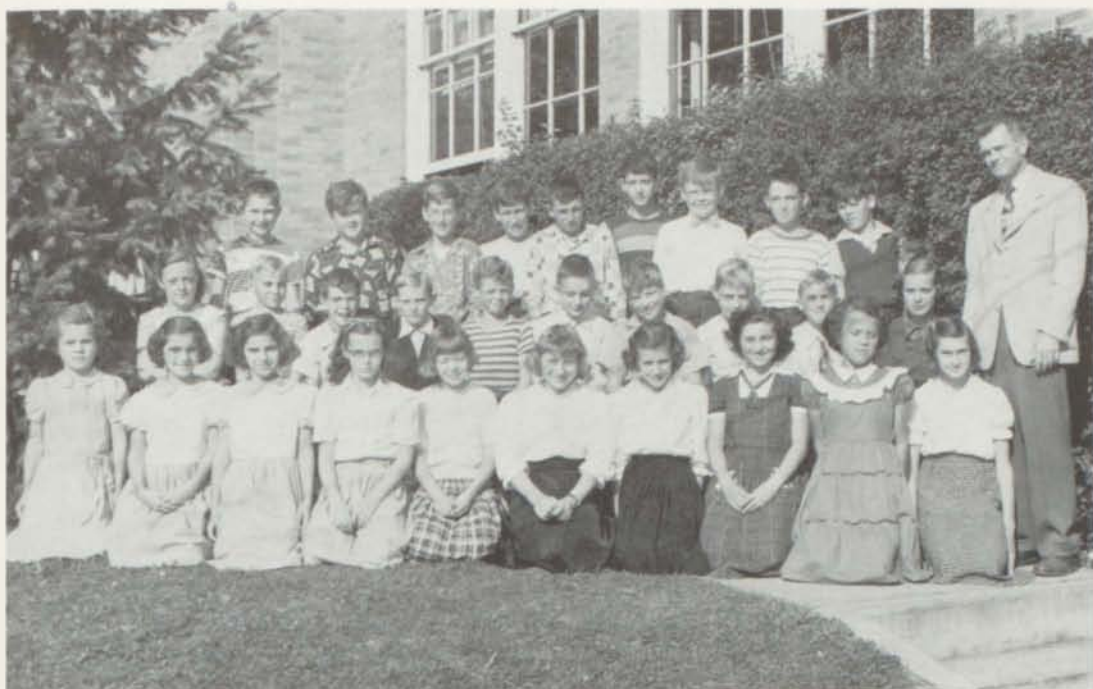

In the nine months that our happy family has been together, we have had many joyful clambakes by the fireside (a genuine hot water radiator) including a Christmas Party, a Valentine's Day Party, and an Easter Party. Apparently the efforts of our guardian and his fellow teachers have not been in vain, for we are looking forward confidently to entering the hallowed halls next door — the eighth grade.

“Things of this sort . . . . lessons in the school room”

Supervising Grade Principal - - MR. WARNER

From the kindergarten through the sixth grade our school life is indeed a series of “things of this sort . . . . lessons in the school room”. In an effort to secure continuous growth in fundamentals, we have a program of inter-related activities; selecting those which are of most value at each individual grade level.

Our trips to the Rochester Museum and the Buffalo Zoo were among the most rewarding experiences of the year. At the museum we saw many examples of Indian handicraft and many exhibits depicting Indian lore. And who will ever forget “Eddie”, the Chimpanzee at the zoo? After returning from the zoo and museum, we wrote stories about the trips.

A trip to the Lyndonville water works was also a part of our program this year. There we learned about our water supply and saw how carefully it was protected against contamination.

Preparing and presenting the Christmas Pageant, writing letters to our parents inviting them to our various activities, composing articles for our grade paper, weaving on looms, working with clay and leather, building aquariums and terrariums, conducting experiments in science, and arranging bulletin boards and displays for our different subjects were just a few of our many activities.

When it was possible to see or to make the things we were studying, we did so, but many of our experiences came from reading books. The additional books we used this year taught us much more about the world in which we live.

All of us have had a very busy and profitable year and like Alice, we have learned many new and wonderful things!

"It's enough to drive one crazy!" That it is, that it is! The "Mad Flatter" of the Re-Echo Staff, who also happens to be our editor-in-chief, scurries to and from trying to figure out which part was "driving us crazy" now!

And then one morning she rushed into the library all hepped up to exclaim. "Oh I've had such a curious dream!" Then as our literary editor walked in the door, she ran to her shouting, "It was a curious dream, dear, certainly; but now run in to your tea (oh pardon me, I meant to say articles); it's getting late." So that's how we got started on our yearbook!

Every day afterwards, "the squeaking of the Lizards' (literary editors' staff) slate-pencils could be heard if one chanced to amble into the library on "business" and then too, Mr. Kelley, along with Bob, "Our Business Manager", Pringle would say "you ought to have finished those ads", "when did you begin?"

"Ah, that's the great puzzle," retorts Bob's assistant.

One time Mrs. Porter asked our head typist Sharon if she were coming along all right — Sharon replied, "Really, now you ask me!" Don't think . . .

(The girl with camera, our photography editor) was showing Mr. Grant some snapshots the other day. During the process Mr. Grant exclaimed, "Quick turn that over!" Oh dear what's next? The 1952 yearbook of course! —P. Rowley

The Student Council is the governing body of the school and regulates student activities, scheduling them on the calendar. The council is made up of two representatives from each class, two officers elected by the student body, plus the faculty representative, Mr. Herry. The Student Council is the embodiment of the democratic way of doing things.

For the benefit of the students, the council stationed a suggestion box in the library. Many helpful suggestions were placed in the box by conscientious students who wished to improve their school.

One activity conducted by the council was discussing how the cheerleaders should be chosen for the year. After much discussion and changing of plans, it was put to the student body to elect the cheerleaders according to the council's plan.

Probably our most successful innovation was the dances we sponsored twice a week in the gymnasium during the lunch hour. Here, to the tune of popular songs, the students tripped the light fantastic in waltz time, rag time and even square dance time.

In the spring, several members of the council had the privilege of attending the Western New York Conference of Student Councils. The representatives learned how other student councils are functioning and how we could make improvements in our own student body.

The council considers this past year a highly successful one in the management of various school activities, and, although some doings of the classes weren't exactly according to parliamentary procedure, the Student Council "pardoned them all!"

Such was the oft-expressed attitude of hard-working members of the Library Staff, organized at the beginning of the year to include those who really wanted to work during free periods. Many new projects were successfully completed and techniques, such as filing cards, mending books, and preparing displays, were learned.

Early in the fall, the library was rearranged to make room for the new guidance department; this involved moving approximately 800 books twice! The new arrangement proved more attractive and more convenient, with reference books more readily accessible and less crowded.

At Christmas time the Nativity scene was painted on the library windows by the art staff, displays were set up and the spirit of Christmas permeated the atmosphere!

Also completed this year was the pamphlet file. Long needed, it has proved a valuable source of information, well worth the time spent preparing it. Book jackets have been classified and filed, too, as another service feature. By scanning jacket "blurb", staff members discovered much delightful reading material! (Maybe that's why it took them so long!)

Another project inaugurated was the adding of new subject and cross reference cards to the high school catalog. The group, working diligently, finished many of the high school non-fiction books this year and greatly increased the serviceability of the catalog.

Grades four through six greatly enjoyed the period from 11:15 - 12:15, during which they were able to use the library this year.

In spring a tea was held to publicize recent acquisitions and achievements.

All in all, it has been a busy, productive year, "full of sound and fury", signifying something meaningful, it is hoped!

To us, who are members of the Lyndonville Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, nothing could be more fulfilling than to “rise like a stalk out of a sea of green leaves”, as we rise from a Greenhand to a Future Farmer and then to the highest goal in agriculture — farmers in our own right.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization which has done much to further our interest in agricultural accomplishments and better farming through modern methods.

In November we had a party to initiate the newcomers as “Greenhands”. At this time we also gave the Future Farmer Award to Gilbert Cain, Donald Dix, Donald Bentley, Vernon Krisher and Howard Rogers.

Our most enjoyable and outstanding activities this year included F. F. A. meetings held at Newfane and Albion. In January, Donald Dix, Donald Bentley, Vernon Krisher and Dean West, accompanied by Mr. Fauler, attended the apple judging contest held at Rochester. A chicken judging contest, sponsored by the Poultry Tribune, and a cow judging contest, promoted annually by Hoard's Dairyman were also a stimulating part of the year's activities, enjoyed by all.

Our club project for the year was raising five acres of wheat. The money we received from the wheat last year went towards this year's project.

Two of our outstanding members of last year, Roger Woodworth and Keith Scharping, received the Dekalb Award and the American Agricultural Award, respectively.

The Camera Club, being the newest club in school, got off to a slow start. This was due to the lack of the necessary equipment, which included such things as trays, developing solution, printing paper and flash bulbs. A club dark room was assembled next to the music room, so that when our equipment did arrive, we were able to proceed without delay.

Each member learned the techniques required to take good pictures, develop film, and to print the finished pictures. Many snapshots were taken around the school, in the classrooms, study halls and at various school activities. Most of these were quite professional, even though a few might have been called somewhat amateur attempts, but enthusiasm ran high, anyway, and the whole project proved to be interesting as well as loads of fun!

In the spring, the members of the club planned a trip to the Eastman Kodak Company at Rochester, which proved to be one of the highlights of the year. At Eastman we saw the latest in photographic equipment and many new developments in the field of photography.

At present, plans for a bigger and better club with more equipment are under-way. It is hoped that in the coming years the yearbook will consist entirely of photos taken by the Lyndonville Central Camera Club. We know too that our growing enthusiasm for candid shots (and who isn't a candid camera enthusiast?) will perhaps cause many of our subjects to moan henceforth. "I don't like the look of it at all!"

Well, what's this? Part of the Queen's Court? Oh my goodness — it's the Art Club. And you, my dear young friends, what have you been doing this year?

Oh my, but, we've had fun with a number of activities. Everybody asked, "Will you tell me, please, why you are painting those roses?" Why, for the Senior Play of course, we answered. (We did the decorating!) What a time! Slopping on wall paper! (Oh dear! Did you say slopping on wallpaper?) Well, at least that's what it looked like! It did look nice, though, the night of the Senior Play. We furnished some materials as well as our help for this play. Mr. Grant, Mr. Phillips, and Mr. Kelley were the teachers who assisted us and in November, when the Seniors had their Spaghetti Supper, the Art Club was right there doing the advertising.

Our main object was to do some sketching, because that is our chief interest. We also planned a trip to Buffalo, to visit the Albright Art Gallery.

For the Christmas holidays, the library windows of the school were brightly painted with nativity scenes. Members of the club and several teachers assisted the art classes in accomplishing this.

We also worked diligently on displays for the show case in the front hall, publicity for all major class activities and many other miscellaneous projects.

It certainly has been a busy year and we have enjoyed our work in the Art Club.

As a result of tryouts held for Senior Band, our membership has increased to forty-six, which gives us a well balanced band. We also sported eight baton twirlers, who could boast of making their own uniforms! A new instrument, the bass clarinet, was added this year, with Marjorie Krisher playing it.

In November, Sandra Munzel, Judy Meland, Howard Gates, and Robert James were accepted for the All State Band, which gave a concert in Medina. It was a new and interesting experience for them, and one from which they benefited greatly.

Patrons of the football games enjoyed snappy marches and formations on the field, and a portion of the band entertained during intermissions at the basketball games. At Christmas time a brass ensemble played several Christmas numbers in conjunction with the annual yuletide program.

The annual Senior Band assembly program had a new twist to it. In addition to several numbers by the band, and several solos, a comedy skit (including a rendition of "The Thing") was presented, with Ted Teffner, Howard Gates, Robert James, Carlton Woods, Randy Smythe, Larry Meland, and — yes, even Mr. Eggert, participating (complete with derby and robe)!

The band took its part in the Spring Concert, and also entered the Western New York School Music Association Festival which was held in Hamburg, the latter part of May. As usual, we marched in the Decoration Day Parade. Included in our repertoire this year were several of Sousa's marches and several well-known overtures.

We cannot leave our director out; "For if we knew time as well as he does", we would never have any troubles in preparing our selections!

"Do you think I can listen all day to such stuff?"

Director

A very successful year, indeed, has been enjoyed by L. C. S.'s Junior Band. It is true, that, like uncut diamonds, we still need a lot of polishing however!

Several new features have been added to our group this year. For one thing we have a beginners' group for those who are just being initiated into group musical endeavors. Members of this organization advance to the Junior Band when they fulfill certain requirements; the really talented eventually find themselves in the Senior Band. We have also added some new instruments to our aspiring group. Muriel James plays the bell-lyre (glöckenspiel, to you who do not know your musicology), while Gordon Woods and Richard Hoffman collaborated to give us a drum duo.

In the spring, the Junior Band, with much enthusiasm and a few miscues, sent their music across our gymnasium to the tunes of "The Star March", "Marilyn Waltz" and "America the Beautiful". We may not have been neat, but we surely were noisy. At the same concert a soloist from each section played a selection. We realize that Mr. Eggert must be thinking "do you think I can listen all day to such stuff", but, patient man that he is, he never says it audibly!

At present we may be on the bottom of the school's musical ladder, but with diligent practice we hope to reach the top rung. Our director is full of hope and encouragement and we who are young are full of ambition. The sooner we get there the happier we'll be.

—J. Meyer

"At the great concert given by the Queen of Hearts"

Accompanists - - - CAROL EHRENREICH, JUDITH MELAND
 Director - - - MRS. WOLFE

"Off with their heads," said the "Queen of Hearts", Mrs. Wolfe, our director, brandishing her baton like a sword! But we kept our heads by pointing out that as "every grin has a cat" and, likewise, every head has a voice and voices were what Mrs. Wolfe needed. So there!

We had a very successful year in the Girls' Glee Club, which this year boasted sixty-five members, all fond of music. Among our principal activities of the year was our performance at the annual Christmas program. At this time we joined the Boys' Ensemble and the Junior Chorus to sing "The Sleigh" and "Twas the Night Before Christmas". Another annual event was the Spring Concert at which we sang a group of numbers selected by our director, among which were: "The Violet", "Dearest Lord Jesus", "The Green Cathedral", and "Beautiful Savior".

The annual Western New York School Music Association Festival was conducted at Hamburg. We sang selections chosen by the judges for participants in the competition. Several of the members were chosen to represent our school at the Sectional All-State Glee Club at Medina High School.

At the Spring Concert we had a musical theme based on this year's yearbook theme. We took a trip through Musiland, in which we sang songs depicting various phases of America's musical history.

The Sophomore Sextet (made up of six girls from the sophomore class), were active not only in all functions musical at school but also entertained in various town activities. They looked especially chic, cute, and clever in their Easter bonnets!

Despite some cacophony (discord, to you, dear reader) we ended the 1951 season (all at the same time) on a note of purest harmony.

The Mixed Chorus, another new organization in our school, is composed of the Girls' Glee Club, and Boys' Ensemble.

"Chorus again" — don't be late — pass the music — who needs another copy? — what's wrong with the sopranos today? These were the familiar words heard at every rehearsal. But Mrs. Wolfe soon brought order out of chaos with the tapping of her baton (or would banging be a better word?)

At Christmas time, the ninety voices that composed the chorus, rang out with "The Sleigh", "Twas the Night Before Christmas", and several traditional carols of the yuletide season. All year we were busy preparing music for the two big events in May: L. C. S.'s Annual Spring Concert and the spring festival held at Hamburg, where we competed with musicians from schools in the surrounding area.

After much diligent practice, we emerged as a unit that blended harmoniously (at times, it is true, we were plenty flat and not too sharp, and we were even known to have lost a beat). We mastered (we use the word loosely, of course) such numbers as "Onward Christian Soldiers", "Beautiful Saviour", "Freedom and Brotherly Love", and "Joshua Fit De Battle Ob Jericho". On the lighter side we contributed "Cindy", "Dry Bones", and "To Each His Own".

Next year we hope to do even better and those who remain all look forward to the time when Mrs. Wolfe will again say, "Bring me the list of singers," and we will answer as a chorus "Wow, wow, wow!"

"The happy voices cry"

The Girls' Ensemble is the perennial musical organization of our school, which over a period of years, has given much pleasure to many audiences in the presentation of advanced choral singing at various annual school programs.

The ensemble participated in various activities of the school this year. At the Senior Play "our happy voices cried" with such songs as "I Dream of You" and "There Are Such Things". Another activity in which we took part was the Annual Spring Concert.

Besides participating in school activities, we enjoyed doing extra singing outside of school. This year Betty Bale, Lynette Barnum, Catherine Bentley, Carol Ehrenreich, and Grace Anne Giblin took part in the All-State Choir. One big activity in which the whole ensemble took part, was the singing of such songs as "Were You There", "God So Loved the World", "Lift Thine Eyes", and "Thus Then the Law of the Spirit of Christ", at various churches throughout the community.

At the Spring Festival in Hamburg, we entered competition, singing a few numbers from our extensive repertoire, including such selections as "White Swans", "The Piper From Over the Way", "The Star", "Your Song", "Erie Canal", and "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water".

This completed a year in which our "happy voices cried" many times. We have increased our number, and have carried out old traditions successfully, and hope that in years to come the ensemble will continue to progress satisfactorily.

"You know the song perhaps?"

Director

MRS. WOLFE

Another year rolls by and finds the Boys' Ensemble completing another season. With the addition of new members from the Freshman class, they presented many snappy selections at various programs.

Last fall one of our members, Howard Gates, had the privilege of attending the All State Choir in Syracuse for three days; he was one of two hundred and sixty participating.

Once again at the Christmas program the Boys' Ensemble and Girls' Glee Club combined their talents to sing the ever beautiful "'Twas the Night Before Christmas." This selection is fast becoming a lookedfor rendition at L. C. S. How truly "you know the song perhaps?"

The boys in the quartet did a series of barbershop harmony numbers which were unusually well received. At the annual Spring Concert, the boys had to make several quick changes of costume as they sang three different numbers in rapid succession. This group was especially welcome at our assembly programs where their favorite renditions were: "No, No a Thousand Times No", "The Tulip" and the perennial question, "I Don't Know Why".

The boys commented that they really enjoyed doing these numbers and Mrs. Wolfe added that they truly worked hard on them.

All the boys hope that in the coming year the organization will continue to bring to its audiences enjoyable, well prepared arrangements.

Although we are losing quite a few members this year we hope to strengthen our company by new additions from the incoming Freshman class. Even if they don't "know the song perhaps", we will soon teach them.

"I think I can kick a little"

Co-Captains - - - PETER GREHLINGER, BILL HARROLD
Coach - - - - - MR. HARTSEN

"Fight Team Fight" was heard at all seven league football games this year, with the high-spirited cheerleaders always on the side lines, boosting the morale of our football team. "The Tigers" won two and lost five games this year, all of which were close and hard fought, especially since the team was badly hindered this season, with "Pete" Grehlinger, hard running back, out of all action as a result of a broken wrist, incurred in the opener.

We had many fine runners, such as "Steamboat" Paul Goetze, who, when he once broke away from the "sandbar", (the opposing line) sped down the field full steam ahead, his "paddle-wheel" feet churning up the turf. Many fine runs were reeled off by "Bill" Harrold, ace quarter-back, "Bud" Crowley and "Gordie" Scott, our speedy backs. Carlton Woods, the school's "Buddy Young", who ran like a startled deer, tallied sixty-four points, a new record at L. C. S. All this hard-hitting activity filled each game with excitement and suspense until the final gun!

One of the many exciting moments occurred during the Elba game. With little more than a minute to play, we trailed by six points. Harrold stepped back and heaved a pass which went forty yards; Scott would have made a touchdown, for the pigskin was in his arms, but the whistle blew, calling the play back for illegal motion on the part of one of our team, thus deciding the game!

During the course of the Oakfield game, "Dick" Peters, after a forty yard gain, came to the bench with his head bleeding. Closer examination of his head gear brought forth a lollypop, lost by one of the managers before game time!

Coach Hartsen said that although there were many sad moments this season, he couldn't have asked for a more cooperative, or harder fighting group than this year's squad!

—H. Gates

"Let's go on with the game"

Captain - - - - - GORDON SCOTT
Coach - - - - - MR. HARTSEN

As the football season came to an end, all thoughts turned to basketball. Coach Hartsen had quite a time choosing this year's Varsity Basketball Team, as all players were new except "Bill" Harrold and "Pete" Grehlinger.

"Gordie" Scott, "Bob" Pringle, "Don" Flynn, and "Doc" Wakefield were the squad's Senior Class members, while the Junior Class players consisted of "Bob" Church, "Deanie" West, Clare Woodworth, "Dick" Peters, and "Jim" Cook.

Lyndonville had many faithful followers, who saw some very exciting games. Especially spine-tingling were the two non-leaguers played with Barker, which were heart-breaking one point losses for L. C. S.

"Looping" Harrold had some of the craziest shots imaginable. The ball seemed to enjoy lingering on the rim before dropping in for a score. Even so "Bill" had a season's total of 103 points. Bob "Hookshot" Church garnered 92 points by means of his height and clever footwork. Grehlinger and West were the driving boys and Woodworth played a steady, good game. Pringle and Scott also made their appearance felt in every game. Although the season was disheartening from the point of view of victories, it was rich in thrills, spills and competitive chills!

As their basketball careers come to a close, the senior members on the Varsity could look back over four enjoyable and successful seasons on both J. V. and Varsity squads.

Just as the seniors can look back on a job well done — the Juniors and under-classmen are looking forward to "going on with the game" for another year or more.

"Twinkle Twinkle little bat, how I wonder what you're at?"

Coaches - - MR. HARTSEN, MR. KELLEY, MR. GRANT

Play ball! Drop those flamingos and grab a "twinkling bat! We're not playing croquet — but baseball! This spring our fancy lightly turned towards first base and the promised land beyond — home plate.

"The Whip" West hurled steady ball for us throughout most of the season and was relieved occasionally by "Dependable" Dick Peters and "Battling" Bill Harrold. Cavorting in the outfield like three frightened rabbits were Peters, "Walloping" Woods and Harrold, while the infield boasted such stalwarts as "Reaching" Robert Church at first, "Bobbing" Bob Pringle at the keystone sack, "Flash Gordon" Scott as shortstop, and Bob "The Bull" Blanchard holding down the hot corner. Behind the plate "Joltin" Jim Cook handled the mound stuff like the Yanks' "Yogi". (Look ma, one hand!")

There was the day against Medina when we could not buy a hit — so we started bunting. Bunt — bunt — bunt — three men on, the last of the ninth, two away — what to do? So we bunted and "squeezed" home, by the skin of the plate, the winning run!

With the able assistance of "Rusty" Gates, "Killer" Crowley, and "Galloping" Goetze the team was able to post a past record of ten wins and only three losses.

The J. V. squad is developing some likely prospects that will replace the outgoing seniors, who are graduating from this wonderland of high school to the big league of college competition. They may be getting out of the rabbit's hole, but they will still be carrying their rabbit's foot — and so will we!

"I kept all my limbs very supple"

Captain	-	-	-	-	RICHARD KENYON
Coach	-	-	-	-	MR. KELLEY
Scorekeeper	-	-	-	-	MR. PHILLIPS

Although this year's Junior Varsity Basketball Team didn't have as successful a season as in some years, two victories against our arch-rival, Elba, helped somewhat to ease the set-back of not winning more games.

"Bob" Blanchard took team scoring honors with a total of 103 hard-earned points. The two games we won were team victories, the last one having been almost won by the frenzied yells of the "bench squad". This game was saved by a miraculous hook-shot from the corner by our ever-fighting teammate, Blanchard, bringing it to a tie as overtime brought the game to a finish in favor of L. C. S.

Our team was made up of Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors. Two defeats at the hands of Barker were especially hard pills to swallow! "Bucky" Gates plodded along to tally 44 points in three games. "Easy Jim" Enderby's corner shots netted him 33 points in three games. "Little Dutch" Foss was hindered by his small size, but played in championship form.

The team got a kick out of the statement made regarding one of our players by one of the "refs". Said the referee in a puzzled voice, "Son, you must have a spring in your legs the way you jump around."

Is that true, Carl?

"We kept all our limbs very supple," by hard playing and practicing, earned our letters and gained valuable experience which will help us to "catch fire" and win all our games next year!

MR. HARTSEN

All intramural sports are played on a friendly, competitive basis. We, in the Boys' Intramurals are ever striving to better ourselves in each and every competitive sport offered to us!

Basketball made a very forceful entrance into noon-hour sport life this year. To create even greater competition than ever has been seen before, Mr. Hartsen refereed the games, and divided the members of the four high school classes into six groups, each one having the name of a college team and having either one or two members of the Varsity Basketball Team as the coach.

The basketball intramurals came to a thrilling finish with two teams, “St. Bonaventure” and “Cornell” tied for first place. This game was played off during the noon hour, with the students present, rooting for their favorite team. The game was fast and furious and when the bell rang the game was tied. Accordingly, the game continued in an overtime period. Cornell won the game in one of the most exciting intramural games the students of Lyndonville have ever witnessed!

Next came the annual ping-pong tournament. Many exciting games were seen, especially when last year's champ, Vernon Krisher, and either “Jack” Riordan, “Dick” Peters or “Bill” Harrold were opponents.

A comparatively new intramural sport in our school, wrestling, was enjoyed by many boys who were interested in body building.

Intramural sports not only gave “muscular strength to our jaws” but added many a bruise. Did we have fun? — You bet!

MISS GRAY

Endeavoring to increase competition and new interest in sports, the four groups of high school girls inaugurated many sports activities this year on the Girls' Intramurals Program. The sports season started out with volleyball games. These games were very close, and, after a vigorous battle the lowly Freshmen emerged victorious. Our basketball season was next started, with grim determination, on the part of the Seniors, to win. And, low and behold, they did! Three games were played by each team. The Freshmen won one, tied one, and lost one. The Sophomores won none, tied one, and lost two. The Juniors won one, tied one, and lost one, and the victors won two, tied one, and lost none. During this series of basketball encounters, we had an extra feature, a game with the Royalton-Hartland girls' team! The victors? Lyndonville, of course! Score, 33-20!

Our ping-pong and badminton tournaments were entered into with a bang, by each and every participant. The competition was keen but that's what made it interesting, wasn't it? Suzanne Krisher's sharp tactics coupled with Pat Rowley's skill and Carol Ehrenreich's clever paddle maneuvering made the finals hard-fought indeed. The badminton tournaments furnished many exciting moments to both players and spectators alike.

In the spring, bats were flung over shoulders, balls were flying through the air; baseball had started! We all went into the game with full force and “we didn't seem to have any rules in particular”.

While the senior girls will put their skill and energy into playing for their college's girls' teams, the Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen will keep up the good spirit of playing together at L. C. S.
