FOREWORD

The opinions, memories, and hopes of the people are expressed in the newspapers. A journalist is actually a historian; he records and reveals man's actions from beginning to end, from birth to death.

In publishing the 1956 edition of the "Echo", the senior class has gathered a collection of memories, an "autobiography" of days at LCS. We have attempted to record the pleasant experiences, the hard times, the comical, the serious.

With the hope that this yearbook may provide us with a lasting "echo" of our adventurous school years, just as a good newspaper reflects the vicissitudes of everyday life, the senior class has chosen "The Press" as the theme of this, the 1956 edition of the "Echo".

DEDICATION

TIME, TALENT, ADVICE. For six years now, all of these have been given freely by a man who has been an advisor to the Class of 1956 through our four years of high school, and who has been art advisor for the yearbook ever since he came here in 1951. In commemoration of his untiring efforts both in class activities and with the yearbook, we, the Senior Class of 1956, dedicate this 1956 edition of the "Echo" to Mr. Bluhm. We sincerely hope, Mr. Bluhm, that you will enjoy many more full and happy years in the teaching profession.

deep, spread across Upstate New York Wednesday night and early today, making roads and highways generally slippery.

The advice for drivers in most sections was "proceed with caution."

State Police and the Weather Bureau said the heaviest fall was in Fulton and Hamilton counties, with the snow still coming down. All roads in the East-Central area were reported open but slippery.

A heavy snowfall was reported accumulating on the State Thruway in the Geneva and Waterloo areas, with the road becoming slippery in spots and plows and sanders working.

In Northern New York, roads were slippery under two inches of new snow.

Some roads in Central New York where one to three inches of snow fell during the night also were slippery and slushy, troopers said.

Driving conditions were reported "very hazardous" in South-Central counties and no unnecessary travel was advised on secondary roads. Most of the Western New York section also had slippery roads.

The Thruway from New Paltz northward almost to Albany was reported drying. There was wet pavement in the Syracuse area.

The Weather Bureau said the disturbance causing the snow is expected to gain strength as it moves northeastward, but by the time it gains full strength it is expected to be out of range of New York State.

Cold weather will follow the disturbance.

More Music for Local Shoppers

A schedule of Christmas music by Madona arra artists has been released, covering the period from December 18 through next Tuesday. The programs, broadcast from the auditorium, are open to the public and are aired for shop- long-range loudspeakers

The four-day schedule is as follows:

Monday, December 18: 4:00 - Ralph Schnacker - organist, County Line Lutheran Church. 7:30 - Mrs. Ralph Allard - organist. Tuesday, December 19: 4:00 - Mrs. Ralph Allard - organist. 7:30 - Baptist Sunday School, directed and accompanied by Lowell Neal. 7:15 - Diane Shurgour - soprano, accompanied by Lowell Neal.

ing to fight his way through state high drifts. And a veteran Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer died of carbon monoxide poisoning in his blizzard-stalled car.

In South Dakota Wednesday, 24-year-old Richard MacKillip of Parker stopped along a highway to aid a stranded motorist. A car travelling through the blinding snow struck and killed him.

Bus travel in and out of the state was hampered. A bus driver in North Dakota and Watertown in South Dakota was "all but halted. Motorists were warned to keep off the highways in five South Dakota counties and Minnesota authorities feared all the state's roads would be iced over today. Highway travel was so difficult that a school bus driving out of (Continued on page 5)

BILL OF RIGHTS PRIME WEAPON, SAYS IVES

NEW YORK (UP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) said today the Bill of Rights is "the most powerful weapon that has ever been devised against dictatorship."

Ives, in a speech prepared for Brooklyn ceremonies observing the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Bill of Rights, said it is "the soundest argument any government has ever fashioned to bring to the minds and the hearts of men the support of freedom."

"And bill of rights day," he added, "is the opportunity to remind every man, woman and child that they are standing on the side of freedom."

FACULTY

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Mr. Osborn

ADMINISTRATION

Just as a first class newspaper has an outstanding staff of experienced and co-operative men and women, we have been privileged to be assisted to our deadlines by a capable group of people forming our administrative staff.

Mr. Harold R. Osborn, Superintendent of Schools, was our able chief of staff. We salute him on successfully completing his first year as Superintendent.

Aiding Mr. Osborn to its utmost was the Board of Education, Mr. Howard E. Brown, President. The "Editors" in the office were Mr. Robert O. Starr, Supervising Principal; Mr. Donald Herry, Vice Principal of the High School; and Mr. Earl Warner, Vice Principal of the Elementary School.

Our experienced "typist" and keeper of the ledger was Mrs. Custer, the school's gracious secretary.

The "reporters and recorders," our faculty, are to be congratulated heartily for the fine story they have written into our futures. The efficient, well-prepared custodians, bus drivers, and cafeteria staff have performed their "assignments" with ease and assurance found only in the well-read paper's staff.

We, the Senior Class of 1956, are proud that we have had such a well-prepared, experienced, and outstanding administration to guide us ever onward to our deadlines.

Since 1854, seven Congressional investigations of lobbying have produced one ineffective law — in 1946. Last week it appeared doubtful whether this record would be improved upon by a select bipartisan committee of eight Senators, named three weeks ago by Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and Minority Leader William Knowland to conduct a broad inquiry into lobbying and campaign donations.

The action of the Senate was the result of a tempest stirred up when Senator Frank Case, Republican of South Dakota, disclosed that he had been and had received a $2,500 donation by a lobbyist.

country's fourteenth largest corporation, one of twenty-one with more than $1 billion in assets and second (to General Electric) in its field. In 1953, when most big corporations were reporting booming sales and profits, Westinghouse net earnings were down 46 per cent and sales were 12 per cent below 1954. The major reason for the decline was labor trouble.

Last October, 55,000 workers went on strike at 40 of the company's 98 plants, cutting production by half. The walkout, now in its 247th day, has cost the company an estimated $500 million in lost sales and its striking workers $90 million in wages.

The principal issues were length of contract—Westinghouse wanted to replace the existing agreement, which expires in October, with a five-year contract, similar to one the International Union of Electrical Workers, A. F. of L. O., and G. E.—and the company's right to make one studies and produce new workers

Negotiations were conducted against a background of racket-line violence prompted by a company-inspired head-to-work meeting. They met nowhere. The company dismissed about three strikers, charging them with committing acts of violence. Twice Washington negotiators walked out of the conference room, because of the abusive language by James H. In New York, Republicans have been seeking a likely candidate to cut down Senator Herbert H. Lehman, whose heavy majority in Democratic New York City has four times helped elect him Governor and twice Senator. A likely prospect is State Senator General Jacob K. Javits, who has served two terms as Congressman from the city's Twenty-first District—an area once counted safely Democratic—and was the only Republican to win a high state office in 1954. Last week Mr. Javits said that he and party leaders decided "together" that he would be "the Eisenhower ticket by default" against Lehman for the Senate, "then it would be my duty to run."

REFUGEE REPORT: Congress in 1953 passed the Refugee Relief Act to admit 209,000 non-quota immigrants—chiefly escapees, displaced persons and other victims of Communist and Nazi oppression—in the three-year period ending this December. But the law was larded with so many restrictions that critics called it an "exclusion" rather than a "relief" measure. Last week the State Department reported that 13,351 refugees—about 6.5 per cent of the authorized total—had received visas under the act. Of these, about 5,000 had already been admitted by Feb. 1 under "existing circumstances." The department said "considerably less than a total authority visas will be issued before the expires ten months hence."

TENTH MAN IN: One of the top-flight Commanders convicted of violating Article 100 showed up at the hearing in July, 1964, four who jumped bail. Hall was placed in a warehouse and sent to the military base at Killeen to read out a 500-paragraph "Statement of Facts" to the Squad, a "little group" Monday, July 13, 1964. He made no comment to the 10th man in the following days, but when asked, "What are you doing," they "face the problem" of the 10th man in the year.

SENIORS

CLASS HISTORY

On a sunny September morning in the year 1944, a year during which World War II events covered much of the front page, forty "cub reporters" trudged into the small first grade room to get their assignments. They were Roger Andrew, Wayne Barry, Fred Bentley, Larry Brown, David Childs, Howard Dix, William Hodgins, Gary Housel, Philip Johnson, Richard Johnson, Raymond Newman, Richard Pratt, Duane Pratt, James Pritchard, Sidney Riches, Jr., Roger Riemer, Kenneth Sargent, Donald Whittleton, Richard Williams, William Woodroe, Sally Allen, Susan Barry, Nancy Bentley, Helen Foss, Gertrude Goetzman, Barbara Jones, Marjorie Krisher, Carol Ann Lacey, Eleanor Larson, Elnora Larson, Donna Munzel, Carol Riordan, Joye Rowley, Dorothy Sadler, Lysbeth Hey, Bonnie and Monnie Freeman, Barbara and Mary Margaret Schmitt. Under the guidance of Mrs. Kuch, (to us she was Miss Lucille Artlip), most of the afore-mentioned passed into second grade.

In second grade Mrs. Etta Miller welcomed Sue Krenning, Tim Bowersox, Connie Rohland, Richard Hoffman, Marilyn Miller and Barbara Retzloff to our staff of reporters. Lysbeth Hey, having returned from California, rejoined the class this year. Gold Stars — rewards for good spellers — and oral reading teams, engaged in sharp competition, made important news to commemorate the second phase of our training. Connie and Sue left us in June of 1946 for a while.

The Christmas Operetta and dreaded geography aided in making our third year memorable. Miss Elinore Patten, now Mrs. Bluhm, as publisher, granted admittance to Verne Costich and Linda Hass.

At the commencement of our intermediate classes we were fortunate to have as our teacher Miss Helen Lienhart. Duane Giblin, Larry Braaton, William James, David Brown, Harrison Brown, Jane White, and Catherine Drisdorn increased the class attendance. Sue Krenning rejoined us this year.

Mrs. Marjorie Cooper was our supervisor in the fifth grade. Gordon Woods and Elizabeth Kenyon entered L. C. S. at this time.

In '49 one half of our number moved upstairs to the home room of Miss Marjorie Dunham. Carolyn McCargar and Judy McCargar came to join our class during this year. They, and the remaining portion of the original class, were tutored by Mrs. Frances Blood.

In our seventh grade Mr. Raymond Phillips was responsible for our careers. This was the commencement of our junior high schooling and from then on we were introduced to such things as book reports, compositions, and the bell system. Fifty-four students confronted Mr. Phillips in his first year of teaching. The following were responsible for his headaches: Earl Amlong, Stanton Barry, Tim Bowersox, Larry Braaton, David Brown, Harrison Brown, Michael Chaffee, David Childs, John Corbett, Verne Costich, Howard Dix, Jack Donald, William Dunn, Lloyd Freeman, Douglas Giblin, Duane Giblin, Robert Glantz, Howard Hawkins, Gary Housel, William James, Philip Johnson, Richard Johnson, Robert Lacey, Ronald Mapes, Richard Pratt, James Pritchard, Russel Pritchard, Sidney Riches, Peter Smith, Donald Whittleton, Raymond Withey, Gordon Woods, Sally Allen, Susan Barry, Clara Bane, Nancy Bentley, Lillian Clark, Norma Fitchlee, Helen Foss, Shirley Goetze, Linda Hass, Frances Hawkins, Lysbeth Hey, Virginia Humphrey, Sue Krenning, Marjorie Krisher, Carol Lacey, Elnora Larson, Barbara Lewis, Janet Mapes, Carolyn Mc-

Cargar, Judy McCargar, Donna Munzel, Carol Riordan, Joye Rowley, June Sargent, Barbara Wills, Rita Steffen, and Sandra Washburn.

In June of 1952 we all experienced what can aptly be described as a memorable and somewhat tedious experience — Regents! However, under Mr. Donald Herry's leadership most of us survived and marched into the last year of junior high school, that of the freshman status. There were a few subtractions these semesters also — Rita Steffen, Clara Bane, Shirley Goetze, and Lillian Clark.

Those helping us on our way were Mr. Fred Bluhm and Mrs. Eleanor Wolfe, as our homeroom teachers and class advisors, in the ninth year. Gary Housel and Elnora Larson were chosen as our Student Council representatives. Those who made political contributions these semesters were: Gary Housel and Elnora Larson as our Student Council representatives, Gordon Woods as president, Sue Krenning as vice president, and Joye Rowley as secretary-treasurer. Connie Rohland returned this year to remain with our class until graduation.

As sophomores we were once more divided into two groups under the leadership of Mr. Thomas Grant and Mr. John McCormick. During this year we were allowed to have bake sales and other money-making projects; thus our senior trip fund was begun. Mr. Bluhm guided and advised us again this year. Those making the headlines this semester were: Sue Krenning, president; David Childs, vice president; Connie Rohland, secretary; and Joye Rowley, treasurer, with Gary Housel and Barbara Lewis as our Student Council representatives. Clara Bane and Rose Blount joined us and David Childs left.

Once more Mr. Thomas Grant registered our class membership at the beginning of our junior semesters. This year some prominent actors and actresses in our class made theatrical headlines when they participated in the senior play. Before we became full-fledged journalists our staff elected Dick Johnson as president, Jim Pritchard as vice president, Tim Bowersox as secretary, and Sue Krenning as treasurer, with Gary Housel and Pete Smith as Student Council representatives. Clayton Sargent was the only member that we were lucky enough to add to our membership and Rose Blount was our only subtraction. Selling candy, putting on suppers and bake sales kept us in the headlines this year. Mr. Fred Bluhm and Mr. Donald Herry gave us their expert advice in guiding us this year. Oh yes — we forgot to mention one of the more important events — our Junior Prom, "The Blue Mirage".

Mrs. Earl Warner had to cope with all of the seniors in her homeroom and in this last stretch Mr. Charles Teachout and Mr. Fred Bluhm made certain that none of us veered from our intended course. The presses were busy this year turning out fine reviews of "The Nervous Wreck", our senior play. "The Leap Year Ball", selling salt water taffy, and the sale of yearbooks kept the entire class rapidly adding to the fund set aside for our senior trip. Dick Johnson was elected once more, to carry on the duties of president. Helen Foss, Sue Krenning, and Verne Costich, as vice president, secretary, and treasurer respectively, did a marvelous job aiding our chief executive as they surmounted the usual and unusual obstacles met by a senior executive committee. Pete Smith, it is to be remembered, did most commendably as editor of the "Echo". With the addition of Marty Humphreys, one of the largest class memberships ever to graduate from L. C. S. was maintained. We had long awaited graduation and upon its arrival made our final bow as the Class of '56.

SENIOR CLASS

After twelve years of advancing to a front page position in school, the Class of 1956 finally ascended to its long-awaited rank.

The society page crackled and finally burst into bright flame with the announcement of the annual senior play. This year "The Nervous Wreck" was presented and favorable reviews were to be heard from all who attended. This production presented many problems, all of which were very capably met by the senior play directors, Mr. Spara and Miss Grant.

The front pages were filled often with headlines made by the Class of 1956. Gary Housel was Student Council president, while Peter Smith and Judy McCargar were our two representatives.

After the holiday season our society page again held sway, and "The Leap Year Ball" gave the girls an opportunity to make their dates for a big dance.

Subsequently, the ECHO became the prime concern of the class. With a deadline to meet, frivolity became a lost art and everyone pitched in with his or her share and it was finally put out on schedule.

An advertisement was placed in the newspapers four years ago for funds to finance a senior trip. This ad was answered by the inserters themselves and the Seniors of '56 worked long and diligently, guided by their advisors, Mr. Teachout and Mr. Blum, to finally achieve their ultimate and final goal — the senior trip to Washington, D. C., and New York City.

But in this, the last issue of the Class of 1956, we are not publishing our obituaries, but rather merging with the crowd and achieving the ultimate goal of high school: To prepare us for a useful life in this world of ours.

"Robert went back to camp last night," said Mrs. Stadelmaier. "The baby is staying here."

Corp. Richard C. Stadelmaier was discharged from the army a month ago. He is now living with his parents in St. Louis. In an apartment in the Hamburg area he had been living with his family, all together, but he had to leave because the house was too small for the family.

Stadelmaier said today, Mrs. Stadelmaier had a "tearful heart."

"I know how to thank the people who helped us when we were in the army," he said. "Please tell them that we thank every one of them in every way we know how."

JUNIOR CLASS

President	JEFFREY SMYTHE
Vice-President	JAMES ROGERS
Secretary	GAIL HILDEBRANT
Treasurer	JEAN AMES

Early in September, the 1956 edition of the junior class rolled off the presses, with several want ads proclaiming their desire for money-making projects to procure funds for the senior trip.

Guided by their very capable "editor," Jeff Smythe, and assisted by their able advisors, Mrs. Bradley and Mr. Dilcher, they started upon this rigorous program by selling candy and hot dogs at the football games and the canning factory. This proved to be successful, as did the selling of Christmas cards, the turkey supper and numerous other activities of pecuniary benefit.

Surprisingly enough, the "reporters" of the junior class also found time to participate in many extra-curricular activities, such as sports, cheerleading, band, choral groups and various clubs.

The long period of time from November to March seemed almost an eternity, but when those cherished symbols of high school, the class rings, arrived, everyone's hopes were fulfilled.

The most gala event of the school year, the Junior Prom, turned out to be most successful. The queen and king were crowned by the previous year's royalty, Dick Johnson and Connie Rohland.

The year's activities reached the pinnacle at the junior-senior picnic, long to be remembered for gaiety and frivolity.

At the end of the year the juniors were able to look back and reminisce, taking pride in their achievements, and anxiously anticipating the coming senior year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

President	PAUL OTTO
Vice-President	DOLORES BARNUM
Secretary	CORRINE MUNZEL
Treasurer	JUDY KENYON

The sophomores of Mr. Spara's and Miss O'Brien's homerooms looked for their names in the headlines early in the Fall of 1955. The second-year students were led by Paul Otto, their able president, and under the able counseling of Mrs. Byerly and Mr. Spara, the officers helped the class to arrive at many important decisions, thus finding themselves repeatedly "in the news." Pat Smith and Ted Byerly ably represented the class in the Student Council, and the "sophs" were seen in various organizations, such as the Press Club, F. F. A., Library Club, and Latin Club.

The sophomores also boasted news-worthy athletes and cheerleaders. They were proud of the sportsmanship which their representatives exemplified on the diamond, gridiron, and in the gymnasium.

Looking toward the ultimate goal — the senior trip — the class sponsored bake sales and fund-raising projects, and a picnic with the freshmen rounded out the year. With happy memories of a successful year, the sophomores looked forward to junior rings and senior diplomas, hoping for more "feature stories" next year.

JUNIOR HIGH CLASSES

In September, the members of the junior high classes returned, teeming with news, to their positions as "cub reporters" on the LCS.

As if the news gathered during the summer months were not enough, they immediately set about creating more by electing Student Council representatives — freshmen, Randy Bane and Mildred Dix; eighth graders, Shirley Quintern and Patricia Hass; seventh graders, Lee Sinclair and Nancy Custer. At this time they also chose Mrs. Grant, Mr. Caldwell, and Mr. Argana, respectively, as their advisors to guide them in the writing of future news.

Most of the classes decided to elect new slates of officers every month, which provided a constant flow of news.

A Teen-Age Book Club was one of the new participations of the junior high classes.

The Christmas party in the auditorium provided much enjoyment for everyone.

Among the happy memories of the J. H. classes are trips and picnics held before the end of the year.

IN MEMORIAM

To all of his little friends Jon Eckler will always be remembered. He was very active at play and in school and was well-liked by all who knew him. That this young man had to be taken from his parents and friends at such a tender age is indeed a tragedy. His smiling face and kindly spirit will linger in our minds throughout the years.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Approximately three weeks before the yearbook presses began to roll, ground was broken on the south side of the elementary school, starting an eight-room expansion program. This addition will make the elementary school considerably larger.

The safety patrol was headed by sixth graders this year. This grade also aided students of the fifth grade in the library.

Mr. Teachout gave instrumental lessons to several elementary school students, helping them prepare for membership in the senior band.

Under Mr. Earl Warner, as able "managing editor" of the elementary school, the official staff of the student council was elected. The president was Rick Parsons; vice president, Johanna Billingsley; secretary, Jo Ann Miller.

An "extra" this year was the presentation of the Christmas operetta, "Merry Christmas, Mister Snowman," in which many students participated. This was proclaimed a success by all critics.

As the year drew to a close, students eagerly anticipated the coming vacation and looked forward to a new school year in September.

Extra, extra — read all about it, the Lyndonville Band has completed another successful year.

Under the able leadership of their director, Mr. Teachout, and guided by the Band Council, the band members worked toward their goals of providing education in the field of music as well as entertainment. The fruit of these labors was a successful band which participated in concerts, assemblies, and parades.

After settling down at the beginning of the year, the band members practiced diligently and were accomplished musicians when they visited the elementary school to present a short program. The band also presented a program of Christmas music for the high school students on the afternoon of dismissal for Christmas vacation.

Late in February the band presented a concert which was enjoyed by all. The annual Spring Concert was the highlight of this year's performances. This striking musical review glittered with springtime music and colors.

Some of the band members, together with students from many other schools, competed at a music festival in Williamsville in May. A high-stepping band led by a corps of sparkling baton twirlers, added to the luster of the Memorial Day parade.

It is hoped that next year, with the experience gained this year, the band will again be headline news.

MUSIC CLUBS

The limelight was again challenged last fall as the Girls' Ensemble and the Choir began vocalizing under the able leadership of their director, Mr. Williams.

November headlined the news as an important month for the Ensemble and nine members of the Chorus. The first performance was given by the Girls' Ensemble between the acts of the senior play. Later a group was greatly honored by being chosen to participate in the All-State Sectional Choir at Brighton.

Christmas then only a few weeks away, an enlightening and gay Yuletide program was planned, including musical selections by the Girls' Ensemble and Choir, and an operetta, "Merry Christmas, Mr. Snowman," presented by the elementary school students.

With the approach of April, another annual program was planned by the County Choir. LCS took great pride in sending twenty-two members of its Choir and Ensemble to participate in the program presented April 21st, at Holley,

As the spring flowers bloomed, so did the melodious sounds of the Girls' Ensemble and Choir as they put on the finishing touches for the Spring Concert. On the evening of April 27th, a delightful program was presented by the high school music groups, with the aid of the Grade Chorus and Kindergarten Rhythm Band.

As the Baccalaureate service and Commencement exercises gave the various music clubs their last chance to "show off" what they could do, compliments were heard from all sides about the music at LCS, and all of the singers took pride in the fine work they had done all year long.

When September once again rolled around the F. F. A. members congregated in their "office", otherwise known as room 105. The first item on the agenda was initiating the "greenhands" and raising the previous year's "greenhands" to the degree of Chapter Farmer.

When September had passed and October came the members started to pick their corn crop. Although the profit was not too large the members learned a lot and gained much experience from this project.

In January the Club journeyed to Rochester to compete with members of other F. F. A. clubs of New York State at the Fruit Show. Our boys increased their standing over last year.

March brought warmer Saturdays and the F. F. A. boys took advantage of these. They conducted a scrap metal drive which covered much of the school district and the fruit of their labors was a considerable increase in the treasury.

The club sponsored a donkey basketball game in March and in April started the year's earnings in another crop demonstration.

One of the main headlines this year concerned the organization of a Latin Club. This activity, open to students in the high school who studied Latin, helped to revive Latin and instruct the students in the customs and ways of the Ancient Romans.

At each monthly gathering, under the able leadership of Mrs. Byerly, the students have presented a well-planned program dealing with some aspect of Latin. Included in these programs were a panel discussion; a skit on the Roman Saturnalia, or Christmas; and a grand finale, a fashion show (featuring the Roman toga, of course) and a typical Roman banquet (couches and all).

In true Roman fashion, the club was divided into classes. The highest divisions, were Senatores, consisting of the Latin four year students. The Equites, the Latin three year students; the Plebians, the Latin two year students; and the Servi, or slaves, the Latin one year students.

The club has also joined the Junior Classical League which is a national Latin Club and each member has received a beautiful pin distributed by the League.

No one can deny that the Latin Club was important headline news at LCS in 1955-1956.

The first decision confronting the Senior Class as it started work on the yearbook was that of changing the name of the school annual. The title "Re-Echo" had been used for many years, but the staff decided to change it to the "ECHO". After high school students voted approval of changing the name, students of the senior class decided to send the book to press as the "ECHO".

After much discussion, the class selected "the newspaper" as the theme of the 1956 "ECHO".

Under the direction of the capable editor-in-chief, Peter Smith, and aided by Mrs. Grant, Mr. Spara, and Mr. Bluhm, material for the class record, the yearbook, was collected and assembled. Ever aware of the deadline, all editors worked fervently to see that all photographs were properly identified, that the articles were in order, and the drawings complete, so that the book could go to press at the scheduled time. The inevitable problem of financial backing was ably confronted by the business manager and solved through the tireless efforts of everyone concerned.

As the year terminated, the Class of '56 proudly presented this record of its school years in L. C. S.

At certain times of the day this year, a "city room" atmosphere pervaded the high school library. Here, Library Club members busily worked to keep the library in order, and prepare new books for use.

The Library Club was divided into two sections this year, with different officers for each club. Mornings, the junior high members devoted their time to working in the library, while upperclassmen kept the library open afternoons. Meetings were called whenever possible by the presidents.

Senior High School Library Club members who had not visited the Rochester Public Library previously, had the opportunity to make a tour of it in the fall. There they observed how a large city library functions. One of the most newsworthy events of the year was the visit of Kendall Library Club in February. Refreshments were served and Lyndonville presented a question and answer program. The Senior High Club will long remember the Christmas party, and the Junior High Library Club will not forget its outing held in the spring.

The Library Club hopes it has accomplished its main purpose: helping students of LCS to better reading.

Just as a newspaper has an editorial staff, which decides the policies of the publication and manages its affairs, so the school has a student council which co-ordinates its functions and carries on many other worthwhile activities.

This year, besides scheduling all extra-curricular activities and carrying on its ordinary duties, the council undertook quite a few extra projects. One of the most important was the annual CARE drive which, this year, brought in over sixty dollars. Since this money went to a special CARE project called the Food Crusade, which provided a twenty-two pound package for every dollar donated, well over a ton of food was sent to needy people in foreign lands.

The Student Council bettered its financial status greatly by again sponsoring the individual photographs of all the students in the school. Since it had quite a sizable balance before this project, the Council was quite "well-off" by the end of the year.

As the yearbook went to press, the Student Council was considering a new constitution, or rather a "major overhaul" of the old one, which would more clearly define its duties and powers, and thus contribute to a stronger and better student government.

PRESS CLUB

Editor	-	-	-	-	-	TIMOTHY BOWERSOX
Business Manager	-	-	-	-	-	LEONARD PRITCHARD
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	MARGO COOPER

"Copyboy! Set the type! Where's the editor?" These sounds and many similar ones were to be heard echoing through the corridors of LCS as the local newspaper, "The Tiger's Roar," was being put to press.

For many years, Lyndonville had had a Press Club, but no regular newspaper. This year, under the able supervision of the two "publishers," Mrs. Margaret Grant and Mr. Elliott Peterson, it was determined to change this situation. At the first meeting Tim Bowersox was elected editor-in-chief, and the "editorial" staff was completed soon after.

As no regular newspaper had been printed at LCS before, a name was needed. Therefore, a contest was run to determine it. The Press Club decided on "The Tiger's Roar," submitted by a student who got the name from Mr. Phillips, a former teacher and Press Club advisor.

Instead of giving the newspapers away and having the school purchase the materials, the staff decided to purchase supplies itself and charge a nickel a copy. With the money that was made during the year, it was decided to have a small party at the lake for the benefit of the Press Club members.

As this year's editors and reporters go on to greater and better assignments, it is fervently hoped that "The Tiger's Roar" will be continued by students of LCS for many years to come.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By the Associated Press

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy.
Jan. 17—This little resort town, site of the 1956 Winter Olympics, was in a state of confusion today.

Some of the athletes who came to train for the Games, which open Jan. 26, were leaving town hunting for better snow.

Some ski teams were setting back their arrival dates in hopes that the weather would improve and snow would fall.

The local citizenry was wringing its hands in despair.

But for the bobsledders, all this was fine.

The temperature dropped late Monday and the sled teams were all set to get back in action. Water was poured on the treacherous 16-curve run and by this morning, it was hard and fast.

"It looks to me as though it will hold up for practice," said Donna Fox of Larchmont, N. Y. "We're going to send each two-man sled down twice."

Allen Washbond of Keene Valley, N. Y., coach of the American team, wasn't too happy.

Sun Doesn't Stop the Reds

"Even if the weather stays cold, we still won't get in enough work to be ready for the elimination next week," he said. "All the teams except the Americans need practice. But we can't get in some practice today."

The skiers were a different lot, although the American team is not yet on the scene.

Nelson Bennett of Sun Valley, Ida., manager of the American alpine team, said he planned to keep his squad in Austria until Friday.

"They want to work out and practice by themselves," he commented. "And besides, the snow is very good there."

She's Used to Blows, Not to Being Kicked

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17 (AP)—Marie Streb, once known as "Gypsy Lee" on the pro-wrestling circuit, claimed foul against her husband Monday and won a court decision.

The slender brunette, 37, complained that after her husband knocked her down, he kicked her. She said she was used to being knocked down but objected to the blows.

Her husband denied the beat. He said it was a case of mistaken identity. Magistrate Simon Schonfield ruled

Monday, took one look at the conditions and immediately made arrangements to head for Austria to practice.

The group included Chihara (Chick) Iwano, who won a cluster of titles in a past couple of years while a student at Dartmouth. Right now he is higher with Japanese sports men than did Babe Ruth in his prime in the United States.

Cortina hotels surprise everyone—far better than expected. The rates run from $3.50 a day to $33. The daily includes room, food, chair-lift tickets, ski instruction and sometimes a nominal number of drinks at the bar.

There are 485 registered hotel rooms, plus another 1,000 spread around unregistered homes. In addition, there are ski instructors.

The $100 has been spent on private and official sources to get the village ready for the Olympics. The only way little Cortina could get it done is to become a boom town for a little more than a week.

'Unathletic Slip in Tub' Fells Clare Boothe Luce

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (INS)—"A very unathletic slip in the bathtub" prevailed as U. S. Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce from seeing the U. S. Winter Olympic team off to Cortina D'Ampezzo for the Jan. 26 to 5 games.

"A very unathletic slip in the bathtub this morning with a resultant sprain in my broken wrist prevents me from going today," Mrs. Luce wrote the send-off luncheon. "Please accept my sincerest regrets and deepest wishes for a triumphant display of the best American Olympic sportsmanship."

The bulk of the American team already is in Europe. Today's contingent, which left by airplane, completes the squad.

The figure skaters are the first ever to represent the United States and includes the world champions for both women and men—Tenley Albright of Newton Center, Mass., and Hayes Alan Jones of Colorado Springs, Colo.—as well as the runners-up of Ozone Park, N. Y., and Ronald Robertson of Long Beach, Calif.

The hockey team, coached by John Mariucci of Minneapolis, is rated by Tom Lockhart, president of the Amateur Hockey Association, as 50% better than any group he has sent over in years.

New York's $375,000 quota of the $1,500,000 national fund for the Olympic team speeded to its goal as $50,000 was collected or pledged during the luncheon.

N. Y. BOXING GUILD NOW 'INOPERATIVE,' HELFAND DECIDES

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Boxing Guild of New York today went on the "inoperative" list, with the resignation of every important licensed manager filed on the desk of Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Helfand signaled the final step of his victory over the guild Monday when he announced "for all practical purposes it is inoperative." He said all licensed managers, "with the possible exception of one or two," had quit the broken guild. He had set a Jan. 16 deadline for all to resign or lose their licenses.

Charlie Johnston, president of the International Boxing Guild, of which the New York Guild is an affiliate, wired his resignation from San Francisco. There was no indication Johnston planned to give up his office in the international guild, now under federal indictment on charges of violating the anti-trust law.

Babe Clark to Miss Tourney—Given as Fan

TAMPA, Jan. 17 (AP)—Thursday is the starting date for the Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament and it seems unlikely that Babe Clark Zaharias will be present, even on the sidelines.

Mrs. Zaharias has been in a hospital in Galveston, Tex., for a month undergoing treatment after her second attack of cancer. Tournament officials hoped she could attend. Monday her husband, George Zaharias, said in Galveston he did not think she would be able to come. The Babe has won the tournament three times.

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS AND CHEERLEADING

Striving in their efforts to capture the ideals of sportsmanship and the fruits of victory, the girls' intramurals and cheerleading rolled off the presses of the 1955-56 season with pep and vitality.

Early in the year, girls' intramurals began with volley-ball matches during the noon hour. Interest was increased as the junior and senior teams challenged each other, the results being favorable to the seniors.

Six girls were chosen to represent Lyncdonville at Holley in the county volleyball games, while others participated in the basketball and bowling playoffs. Badminton, ping-pong, and shuffleboard tournaments were participated in during the regular physical education classes. The playoffs to determine the champions were held during fourth periods.

"Score! Score! Score!" was shouted by the cheerleaders who were a great encouragement to the teams as they struggled for victory. After cheerleader elections were held in November, the twelve "reporters" chosen practiced diligently during fourth periods and after school. The uniforms of the six junior varsity cheerleaders consisted of white blouses and black jumpers, while the varsity girls were completely garbed in black. To obtain funds to pay for their new megaphones, the cheerleaders sponsored victory dances after the basketball games.

Through their participation in sport activities and cheerleading, the girls have proven themselves worthy of a feeling of pride in their accomplishments.

FOOTBALL

Early in September of 1955, moans and groans could be heard from the athletes of LCS, and those who remembered past seasons became aware that football practice had started under the eye of chief "proofreader" Arnold Hartsen and his able assistant, Mr. Charles Argana.

Lyndonville wound up the season with a 3-4 record and a 3-3 record in league play to end up in third place. "Hoot" Fraser, Gordon Woods, and "Sid" Riches were the big men, scoring 71, 37, and 22 points respectively. This was a novel year as they were the only three who entered the scoring column.

"Sid" Riches, Hugh Fraser, "Gordie" Woods, Fred Bentley, "Dick" Johnson, and "Butch" Riemer did most of the offense work while "Jack" Donald, "Dave" Dix, "Sid" Riches, Gary Plummer, "Gordie" Woods and Hugh Fraser carried the brunt of the defensive work. The editor-in-chief and signal caller of the 1955 football team was "Dick" Johnson.

Ending the season with a flourishing triumph over Holley, the remaining members of the team sincerely hope that all of the future games will end with the score again in favor of Lyndonville.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Co-Captains DAVID DIX, FRED BENTLEY
 Coach ARNOLD HARTSEN

"Bounce pass," "jump shot," and "two handed set" were to be heard echoing from the "press room" as head "editor," Arnold Hartsen, instructed his apt pupils in the fundamentals of Junior Varsity Basketball. It cannot be denied that headlines were printed when the ten wins were made out of twelve games played. All these games were reviewed by Lyndonville's cheering spectators.

Gary Plummer, David Dix, Fred Bentley, Duane Giblin, and David Herry did most of the offensive and defensive playing this year.

Gary Plummer was high scorer with 167 points followed closely by David Dix with 86, David Herry with 85 and Fred Bentley with 82 points. This report was certainly one which will be hard to surpass.

As the 1955-1956 edition of Junior Varsity Basketball goes to press with its dazzling record, it is fervently hoped that it will continue to sparkle and put our Varsity Team of next year back into the winning column.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

HEADLINES: "L. C. S. has first good season in many years, outlook is promising."

Ward Johnson, the new "editor-in-chief" of the Varsity met his deadline with unerring accuracy by tutoring his "boys" well and making them into an efficient, co-operative unit. Our team fought every game as if it were for the championship of the world. They made headlines with their good record of four wins, and eight losses, some of which were "close shaves". This record has surpassed any recorded since 1946!

Leading our "scorers" was "Dick" Johnson with 199 points. Others who added to our tally were "Phil" Johnson (99), "Sid" Riches (98), "Jeff" Smythe (77), "Gordy" Woods (65), "Dick" Hoffman (37), Roger Riemer (40), and "Jim" Pritchard with 9.

By adding to our varsity this year's J. V. heroes, the Varsity should in all probability, have a better than average record next year. The team has truly compiled an impressive record, one that will most certainly be enviable in the years to come.

BASEBALL

Banner headlines proclaimed the tenseness that was felt all around the circuit as chief "typesetter," Coach Arnold Hartsen drove his forces to their fifth consecutive league championship and third Section Five championship.

Starting with a number of young rookies and experienced "pros," Coach Hartsen had to work long and vigorous hours to skillfully weave his forces into a complete edition with all the flaws removed.

"Ron" Mapes as ace pitcher, Larry Meland as crack shortstop, "Butch" Postle as catcher were all that were left of last year's club; however, by artful tutoring Coach Hartsen set type with precision and molded a "bumper crop" of young "reporters" into an integral part of his baseball machine.

Since Lyndonville had won the championship for four straight years, every one of the opponents was waiting for the moment when the type would crack — that moment never came, and the Tigers finished champions all the way.

As the 1955 edition of baseball is finally published, it is hoped that 1956 will again publish another "headline" team.

CLASS PROPHECY

Last evening, opening the newspaper, I found it to contain something of each of my high school classmates. As I scanned the pages, memories, both amusing and sad, brushed away the cobwebs of time.

"Diamond" Marge Krisher, for instance, now has a lifetime interest in the large green variety through her husband, Ronnie "Slugger" Mapes, and their many little gems.

Gary Housel, the noted president of G. M. C., has been in the news very often lately for his brilliant merger of G. M. C., Volkswagen, and Porsche. This merger especially eliminates slipping fan belts and fender-bending.

Tim Bowersox, the last surviving Democrat, in Washington, D. C., has only one comment, "I'm going back to the farm in old Missouri." By the way, Tim's wife, Susan Barry, also holds a place of distinction. She is the only lady psychiatrist to have a dual couch of five . . . She likes to analyze her patients on an equal basis.

You all have heard, I am sure, of R. E. DuPratt de New York. He made his fortune by formulating a new soap that will take off anything you have on your hands, including skin. Dick's other job as head hound of some canine organization is the only thing that saved him from matrimony. Norma Fitchlee was close on his heels when she slipped on some groove juice.

Allen Bell is known widely as the only farmer to grow purple tomatoes. He ships them to Sidney's African ranch where they make good desert for his pink elephants.

Allen's wife, Sally Allen Bell, was the first person to have septuplets. With their three other children, the dozen Bells make nice music.

The "three musketeers", Sue, Joye, and Elnora, have become famous for their truck driving experiences, which they have written in Latin and sold under the title, "The Gallic War Rehashed." The climax of the book is reached when Elnora runs over a flea and becomes so nervous she vibrates the truck apart.

The most persistent girl in the class, Betsy Hey, has finally won "Marty" Humphreys. Yes, it seems that his Ford convertible ran out of gas in front of a church.

Clara Bane tried to catch Donald but failed to catch the Ford even on Sid's pink elephants. It seems Donald has discovered Dick's groove juice too.

Helen Foss, the wife of a famous Cornell alumnus, has become noted as a match-maker, mainly through date applications. But why, Helen, should one learn a "Friday night song?"

Gordon Woods has become the editor of Pocket Books, Inc. and purchases the rights to print all of "Marty's" love affairs for sale to lovelorn spinsters.

Peter Smith is a famous lecturer who has made a fortune with his argument, that it is much safer to ice skate on the softer melted ice. His wife, Barbara Lewis Smith then lectures on why her husband is all wet.

The soup kitchen in the Bowery, run by Linda Hass and Donna Munzel, has just gone broke because Clayton Sargent stopped eating there when the "Three Musketeers Trucking Line" failed and the number of feminine customers dropped to zero.

"Curly" Jim Pritchard has had to move to Colorado to keep Philip Johnson away from Judy McCargar. Philip took to the air with that famous pilot, Dick Johnson, and his wife, "Queen" Connie Rohland, in hot pursuit of his own invention, the Flying Disc, for which he had failed to get the patents. The trip proved unsuccessful when they failed to find an airstrip and sliced off the top of Pike's Peak in a crash landing.

Carolyn McCargar and Verne Costich, the "brains" of the class, are now at work on nuclear research, trying to determine the effect of radiation on the only active human guinea pig now in circulation (for a fee, of course), Carol Riordan.

At this point, I lay aside the newspaper. The sojourn is over.

—Verne Costich

ALMA MATER

*You may range through all the rainbow
And love each separate hue;
You may praise the rosy sunrise
Or the evening skies so blue;
But the colors of our high school
Due honor shall not lack,
While we can sing of Lyndonville,
And the Orange and the Black.*

*Thru four long years of high school
'Midst the scenes we love so well,
As the mystic charms to knowledge
We vainly seek to spell;
Or we win athletic victories
On the baseball field or track,
Still we work for dear old Lyndonville,
And the Orange and the Black.*

*When the cares of life o'ertake us
Mingling fast our locks with gray,
Should our dearest hopes betray us
False fortunes fade away;
Still we banish care and sadness
As we turn our memories back,
And recall those days of gladness,
'Neath the Orange and the Black.*
